

Figure 3: Effect of amikacin concentration and media pH on cell proliferation over time. When proliferation was assessed by confluence of cells over 24h using live cell imaging, there was a concentration dependent reduction in cell proliferation. At clinically relevant doses, amikacin suppressed proliferation of resident joint cells at 24h.

